Probe underway after video catches man riding between cars

Video of a man riding between two C-Train cars has hit YouTube and spurred an investigation by Calgary Transit safety officials.

SALT student Laura Bevelander, 20, posted a cell-phone video on YouTube after the April 29 incident, during which she captured an apparently intoxicated man riding between the C-Train cars for just over two minutes and 30 seconds from the Sunnyside station to the 8th Street SW stop. The video shows the man holding onto window wipers on the C-Train and also jumping from car to car while awestruck passengers watch the event unfold.

"I couldn't believe it. We were all like, 'Is this really happening?' ... He had a bottle of liquor in his bag," she said.

Bevelander was concerned about the response from Calgary Transit, as she alleged she hit the help button repeatedly but didn't get any response.

"The conductor just let the guy walk away at the next stop after asking if he was OK and was upset with us for leaving the help button down," she said.

Transit safety spokesperson Brian Whitelaw said calls were received by transit and 911, but the man fled before police or peace officers could get on scene.

"We know there was contact made ... Sometimes in scary situations people may not be aware help is on the way,"

Whitelaw said.

He added they are treating the situation seriously and could pursue charges of mischief against the man when they identify him. Surveillance and the YouTube video are being used for identification.

"There's very little you can do to prevent an individual who is motivated to do that," said Whitelaw.

"We believe (the man) may have been intoxicated, and that just makes it worse — propped up on a little liquid courage, people do these things and of course there can be very tragic consequences."

FML gaffe
on Twitter

ONLINE Local tweeps were abuzz when the web acronym FML — f-k my life — was posted as part of a comment on Alberta Liberal Leader David Swann's Twitter account yesterday.

But by the afternoon the politician himself tweeted that it was all a misunderstanding.

"Whoops! My assistant is using my old phone & accidentally sent out a tweet under my name. He is stuck in the snow — not me! Apologies," Swann tweeted three hours later.

Liberal spokesperson Neil Mackie confirmed the "funny mistake."

"His assistant thought he had logged out of David's Twitter and thought he was posting on his own as he is stuck in Edmonton weather," Mackie said.

Social media expert Roger Kondrat said the blunder just makes Swann more human to those following him.

"If he did write it then people get a glimpse into the real person, and though he didn't write it, I think it's cool he didn't delete it or it would seem like he is hiding something," Kondrat said.

It was the second time a Twitter blunder occurred with Swann's account. The first was a tweet about a festival Swann attended that was actually held a different weekend.

Via train, truck crash kills 3

Man, two girls die at Edmonton crossing in blinding snowstorm

Two girls and a man were killed when the vehicle they were in was struck by a passenger train yesterday during a blinding snowstorm in west Edmonton.

Via spokeswoman Catherine Kaloutsky said the collision happened at a level crossing protected by gates, lights and bells. No one on the train was physically hurt.

"We have 227 passengers on board the train, none of whom sustained any injuries," Kaloutsky said yesterday. "Our two engineers, understandably, have requested relief."

None of the 11 other crew members on board was hurt.

Kaloutsky said the west-bound train en route from Toronto to Vancouver hit the truck around 8:15 a.m. While there were whiteout conditions at the time, investigators have not indicated if they were a factor.

A witness at the scene was quoted as saying she heard a "loud crash like a door slamming and I saw the vehicle fly, and when the train left I wasn't sure if I was imagining it."

Police said the girls were both under 10.

The lead locomotive in the Via train sustained minor damage and was repaired, Kaloutsky added.

Kaloutsky said the corner released the train before 3 p.m. and it was expected to reach Vancouver sometime this afternoon.

Speeding at any speed focus of signs

SAFETY Do you speed 10 kilometres per hour over the speed limit?

If so — this sign's for you. The City of Calgary is reminding drivers through street signage that even 10 km/h over the limit increases the chances of injury or death by 73 per cent. Or that 25 per cent of fatal crashes involve speeding.

"The signs are just part of the Limit Your Speed Campaign and there are eight placed throughout the city," transportation spokesperson Stephen Tauro said.

The signs are part of the highly publicized solar speeding signs placed throughout the city last month, designed to let motorists know how fast their vehicles are travelling.

"So far, people are noticing the signs," Tauro said.

The speed campaign runs until October.

Middle East's Al Jazeera to air in Canada

PETER MCCARTNEY
for Metro Calgary

BROADCASTING Calgarians who subscribe to Bell will now be able to get a Middle Eastern perspective on their televisions.

Al Jazeera, an international news agency based in Doha, Qatar, just gained permission from the CRTC to broadcast in Canada.

The network will be broadcast on Bell (channel 516), Rogers and Videotron in Canada but not on Calgary-based Shaw Cable, which could not be reached for comment.

One prominent Muslim

Calgarian is worried the channel will not give an accurate picture of the Muslim community.

"I don't expect a lot of Muslims to watch it," said Mahfooz Kanwar, a Calgary-based member of the Muslim Canadian Congress.

He said he believes the network, which has run tapes from Osama bin Laden in the past, gives a voice to a radical faction of Islam he said most of Canada's 700,000 Muslims do not support.

He said that he expects the Canadian version of Al Jazeera to be more moderate because of Canada's rules and regulations on broadcasting.

Development draws opposition at council

PETER MCCARTNEY
for Metro Calgary

Vociferous Springbank residents packed the Rocky View council chambers to voice their opinion on Bingham Crossing, a commercial development planned for the area. And they did so well into the night.

The development, slated for just northeast of Calgary Park, met opposition from surrounding community members.

"The Springbank way of life is a quiet, country lifestyle where people come first and children are safe," said Laurel Stoness, a seven-year Springbank resident who feels Bingham

Timeline

- If the project is approved, it could break ground later this year, the developer has said.

Crossing will jeopardize the rural atmosphere.

"I moved to the M.D. of Rocky View, not Wal-Mart view," she said.

Opponents voiced their concerns about sewage disposal, water use, policing, property values, tax increases, light pollution, and traffic.

"My concern is the traffic," said resident Doug Bulger. "They haven't really addressed the Achilles' heel of this thing — the Old Banff Coach Road turnoff." He said that to a GPS, the quickest route from Calgary is not the one being upgraded.

Supporters argued it would diversify their tax base, add employment and provide gathering spaces and increased access to public services.

"I've looked at the scenery go by for more than 70 years," said Marshall Copithorne, "(and) there's always resistance to change."

Stu Bradley, a 40-year resident reminded opponents "friends of mine sold their land to the 'dreaded developer,' which enabled (you) to move out there."

A decision on the development wasn't made by press time.

Winds, snow cause havoc in city

SHELBY BORYS
for Metro Calgary

WEATHER Winds gusting up to near 90 km/h by day-break yesterday created a cat and mouse game for city crews trying to respond to numerous reports of damage caused by the gusting gales, mixed with wet snow, which quickly reduced worker visibility by mid morning.

Aside from more than eight reports of damaged street lamps in all areas of the city, repair crews also had to contend with three separate instances of traffic lights being sheared off of their mounting arms, according to city officials.

Several trees had also toppled over in different areas of the city, due to the gale-force winds.

The large triple light signals were blown from their stanchions — they remained tethered mid-air by only a few feet of electric cables, and continued to thrash about precariously over vehicles as they sped beneath them during the morning rush until emergency crews could respond.

City traffic manager Troy McLeod reported that repair crews and the Fire Department were quick to respond to all calls received.

Power outages were reported as the snowstorm blew through the city, and flights at Calgary International airport were reported to have been delayed or cancelled.

Environment Canada lifted the high-wind warning for the Calgary area late yesterday afternoon. And though it snowed most of the day, very little of it accumulated on Calgary streets.

TRANSIT In the race between cyclist and automobile, two legs are better than one car.

A week before Calgary's fourth annual Bike to Work Day, city judge Victor Tounsiant went against both car and bus to win the Suit Pursuit last Friday. Racing 11 kilometres from Glenmore Landing to Eau Claire, Tounsiant won with about four minutes to spare.

won, he says.

An avid cyclist, Balbi is encouraging other Calgarians to use their bikes to commute to work during Bike to Work Day events this Friday.

Participating bikers can expect a free pancake breakfast along with a few other rewards.

"Biking is a great way for people to get into work," says Balbi. "If you (cycle) once, maybe you'll do it twice, and then again and again."

Although this is a community event, the City of Calgary is supportive of the initiative to get more cyclists using city parks and pathways.

"We have quiet a few cyclists on staff," says Lorie Boychuk, communications strategist with the City of Calgary. "We're always trying to get more on board."

Cops corral 78 in crime ring bust

A nine-month investigation culminated early yesterday morning as police conducted several raids across Ontario, arresting 78 people and exposing the "tentacles" of a Jamaican criminal organization known as the Shower Posse.

More than 1,000 police officers fanned out across Ottawa and the Greater Toronto Area yesterday morning as they executed 105 simultaneous, pre-dawn searches. The raids yielded at least 78 arrests, as well as $30,000 cash, $10,500 in casino cheques, 19 firearms, diamonds, cocaine, marijuana, hashish oil, vehicles and more than 10,000 ecstasy pills.

The police investigation, dubbed Project Corral, was instigated in August 2009 as a response to a spike of violence in northwest Toronto.

la organization called the Shower Posse, a Jamaican criminal organization police described as an "international organized crime group that has tentacles into this street-level group ... and is profiting from their criminal activities."

"Over the course of this investigation, a more significant organized crime involvement has been identified," Toronto police Chief Bill Blair said yesterday.

"We're very hopeful that by incapacitating these organizations ... we can make our communities safer."

Police allege the Shower Posse has been supplying local street-level gangs with drugs and weapons and have a reach extending to Sault Ste. Marie to the north, Windsor to the west, and Ottawa to the east.

Funding cut was driven by ideology, group claims

ABORTION A women's rights group says the Harper government has cut funding for 11 women's groups in the last two weeks — just as it prepares to champion maternal health at next month's G8 summit.

Kim Bulger, executive director of Match International, says her group is one of 11 to lose funding. International Co-operation Minister Bev Oda says performance issues were behind Match's funding cut. But Bulger says the cut is part of a pattern of "ideologically driven" punishment against feminist groups — particularly those that support funding for abortion as part of the maternal health initiative. The government has said it will pay for family planning but not abortion.

The funding cuts came to light yesterday, one day after Conservative Senator Nancy Ruth warned women's groups they risk a backlash from the government if they don't "shut the f-k up" on the abortion issue.

Oil spill would threaten birds, fish: Biologist

WILDLIFE An oil spill off Canada's East Coast would threaten millions of seabirds and fragile fish populations, warns a marine biologist who says governments and operators have failed to prepare for such a disaster, especially in light of recent events in the Gulf of Mexico.

Ian Jones, an expert in seabird populations, said a variety of marine birds flock to the nutrient-rich waters on the continental shelf about 250 kilometres off the Newfoundland coast. The area is a key feeding ground for wildlife that migrate from both poles, but one Jones says is vulnerable to pollution from the three oil fields now in production nearby. "You could hardly find a more sensitive area in the world where you would be doing this kind of activity," he said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Shahzad was arrested late Monday aboard a flight that was headed to the

Shahzad is the son of retired Air Vice Marshall Baharul Haq, a former top Pakistani air force officer and deputy director general of the civil aviation authority, according to Kifyat Ali, a cousin of Shahzad's father. *Her Majesty's a pretty nice girl,
But she hasn't got a lot to say.*

— The Beatles

That little ditty nails, in a nutshell, Her Majesty Elizabeth R. II, unless you count her annual Christmas cliché dump, in which she expresses the view that “Phillip and I” are not amused by the suffering of the peasants somewhere in the world and someone should do something about it.

End of message.

So why does she continue to be featured prominently on our currency as the Queen of Canada? And why do we go through the ritual every five years of finding her a governor general, who we dutifully install as our head of state?

The whole nonsense should have been abolished in 1867 when we allegedly became a real country, or in 1982 when Pierre Trudeau smuggled the constitution past the corgis and brought it back home safe to Ottawa.

The last two governors general have qualified for the job by first apprenticing as CBC journalists. By that standard, I qualify as the next governor general of Canada, and as it's time to pick another one, I dutifully submit my name for consideration.

I can stuff a vice-regal uniform as splendidly as any former CBC journalist, which isn't saying much.

Seriously, I have nothing against Michaëlle Jean or the individual touted as her replacement, Canada's Man in Motion, Rick Hansen. True, Hansen doesn't come with as much baggage as Jean, who had to deny that she was a separatist and renounce her French citizenship. True, Hansen does live in British Columbia, which is almost as far from Ottawa as France, but the “British” part works in his favour.

Now, Liberal Leader Michael Ignatieff is trying to stir the pot by recommending Jean's term be extended, contending that she's a more meaningful, meaningless figurehead than any replacement meaningless figurehead.

Attaboy Iggy, you sure know how to pick an issue. It's not as if we don't have any real problems.

Every five years, I hope — in vain, it turns out — we will seriously look at retiring the vestigial servitude that goes with a constitutional monarchy and emerge as the True North Strong And Free To Be Us. And every five years, it turns out we still don't have the jam to take our place among the real nations of the world.

Still, it's not too late. We've just had a shot of real national pride by staging the greatest Olympic Games the world has ever seen. It's time to build on that and give the Queen, her ridiculous family and her ceremonial hand puppets their walking papers.

God save us from the Queen.

Suncor Big improvement

Rick George, president and CEO of Suncor Energy, addresses shareholders yesterday in Calgary. The oilsands giant reported better-than-expected first-quarter profits of $716 million for the first three months of the year. The Calgary-based firm booked a net loss of $189 million for the first quarter of 2009.

Doubts remain about recovery

Canadian businesses are gaining confidence that the economic recovery is real, but they remain concerned that they're not seeing the results in their individual operations.

A new survey by the Conference Board of Canada shows that business confidence, rather than rising with the country's economic fortunes, has stalled over the past six months.

The latest survey shows the confidence index actually dropping slightly to 95.6 from 96 as businesses fret that they continue operating well below capacity due to weak demand.

Canada's economy grew by a surprisingly strong five per cent in the last three months of 2009.

But the survey, conducted between March 8 and April 6, found just 21.5 per cent of respondents said their firm was operating near capacity,

National securities regulator in the works

Flaherty has committed to seeking the Supreme Court's judgment on whether Ottawa has the constitutional power to enact such legislation after Quebec and Alberta objected. Federal governments have sought to create a national securities regulator for years, but the project has always ground to a halt over provincial sensitivities.

Turbulence for WestJet

WestJet Airlines Ltd. said yesterday its first-quarter net income dropped 63 per cent from a year ago — in part because of the sudden departure of its chief executive officer.

The Calgary-based carrier earned $13.8 million, or 10 cents per share, compared with $37.4 million, or 29 cents per share, in the first quarter of 2009.

During the quarter, WestJet booked a $3.7-million expense related to the resignation of Sean Durfy, who announced in March he was leaving to spend more time with his family.

Durfy is expected to stay on in an advisory role until September.

In a statement, Saretsky said WestJet is happy it eked out a profit "especially in light of the challenging economic environment and rising energy costs."

Stripped of one-time items, WestJet's net income was $17.5 million, or 12 cents per share, compared with $35.2 million, or 29 cents per share in the first quarter of 2009.

Net income for the three months ended March 31 totalled $510,000 or a penny a share, down from $660,000 or two cents a share in the corresponding period last year.

Merged U.S. airlines focus on business

AIRLINES United and Continental Airlines are counting on more business travellers — not higher fares for vacationers — to make their $3-billion merger pay.

United CEO Glenn Tilton and Continental CEO Jeffrey Smisek announced Monday that the third- and fourth-largest U.S. airlines will consolidate into the world's biggest, surpassing Delta Air Lines in size. It's a stock swap deal in which United acquires Continental, and the new airline is to be called United.

They hope to draw more business travellers who will pay top dollar for last-minute tickets.

The two airlines have been losing tons of money, first from high fuel prices, then the recession. Now they say their combined network of flights across the U.S. and around the world will attract enough corporate travellers to boost revenue by up to $900 million a year.

Henry Harteveldt, a travel-industry analyst for Forrester Research, said U.S. leisure fares probably won't change much because Continental and United routes overlap heavily with low-fare carriers.

"The leisure market is always hotly contested, so it's less likely to tolerate fare increases, he said.

"Business travellers are less price-sensitive. They have to get on that plane, so they'll pay more for those flights."

Loblaw profits rise

RETAIL The country's largest grocery retailer says its first-quarter profit rose nearly 26 per cent last year, but Loblaw Co. says its operating income will be under more pressure later this year due to the cost of new information technology.

The Toronto-area company says it earned $137 million or 50 cents per share during the quarter. That's up from $109 million or 40 cents per share in the comparable period of 2009.

Loblaw revenue was up 3.1 per cent compared with the same time last year, rising to $6.9 billion from $6.7 billion — thanks largely to the acquisition of T&T Supermarket Inc., a chain that caters to ethnic Chinese customers.

The company's executive chairman, Galen Weston Jr., says Loblaw is on track with a renewal program that includes a major investment in information technology.

Loblaw has had years of

difficulties in updating its supply chain and merchandise management as it moved to compete with Wal-Mart by offering a broader range of non-grocery items.

"Our major investment in information technology and supply chain will now start to ramp up. As previously announced, we expect these investments to negatively impact 2010 operating income," Weston said in a statement.

Pens stifle Habs to take lead

(Pittsburgh leads 2-1)

Penguins 2 Canadiens 0

Evgeni Malkin scored on a power play to break a scoreless draw early in the third period and Marc-Andre Fleury made 18 saves to lead the Pittsburgh Penguins to a mostly uneventful 2-0 victory over the Montreal Canadiens in the NHL playoffs last night.

Pascal Dupuis added a late empty-net goal for the Penguins, who showed they can play defensive hockey as well as Montreal.

The Pens lead the best-of-seven Eastern Conference semifinal 2-1 with Game 4 set for tomorrow night at the Bell Centre.

Malkin, who had been quiet in the first two games in Pittsburgh, ended a four-game scoring drought to help the Penguins wrest back the home-ice advantage they had given up with a 3-1 loss at home Sunday afternoon.

It wasn't pretty hockey as neither team opened up its attack, and the Penguins allowed few good chances on Fleury, while Jaroslav Halak was strong in a losing effort as Pittsburgh outshot Montreal 25-18.

• Montreal coach Jacques Martin said top defence-man Andrei Markov, who left Game 1 in Pittsburgh with an apparent knee injury, is out "indefinitely." Reports yesterday said Markov has a torn anterior cruciate ligament and will likely miss the rest of the post-season.

The chants of "Ha-Lak, Ha-Lak!" went up from the crowd of 21,273 as soon as the Canadiens took to the ice, but unlike the first two games in Pittsburgh, the Canadiens goaltender faced only three first-period shots as the Penguins gave Montreal a taste of its own medicine by hanging back, blocking shots and protecting Fleury.

Sidney Crosby was held without a point for a second straight game despite an energetic performance and didn't let his frustration show as he did in Game 2 when he smashed a stick on Halak's goalpost.

Since scoring twice in his first game at the Bell Centre in 2006, the Penguins captain has no goals and five assists in eight games in Montreal.

LeBron's elbow injury still a mystery

NBA LeBron James and his scrutinized right elbow remained out of sight yesterday, deepening the mystery about his perplexing injury.

Hours after being embarrassed on their home floor by the Boston Celtics in Game 2, the Cleveland Cavaliers were summoned to their practice facility by coach Mike Brown to watch tape of the 104-86 setback that evened the Eastern Conference semifinal at 1-1.

LeBron James

"I had a lot to say to the guys about our performance," said Brown. "I thought we need to develop a sense of urgency in this series and throughout our run. I thought why not have last night be a good start to that."

After the team's film session broke up, James, who will have a third MRI in less than 10 days on his injured elbow later this week, was not seen when the Cleveland Clinic Courts were opened to the media.

The team said James was at the facility receiving treatment on his elbow, but there was no visual proof.

Sharks take stranglehold on series

(San Jose leads 3-0)

Sharks 4 Red Wings 3 (OT)

NHL Patrick Marleau scored 7:07 into overtime, lifting the San Jose Sharks to a 4-3 comeback win over the Detroit Red Wings last night and a 3-0 lead in the second-round series.

The Red Wings led 3-1 with 13 minutes left in regulation.

"It's a tough pill to swallow," Detroit coach Mike Babcock said.

Game 4 is tomorrow night in Detroit, where the Red Wings will try to stay alive.

"They didn't have to win that one, they have to win the next one," San Jose coach Todd McLellan said. "That's when it becomes a must-win."

The two-time defending Western Conference champions haven't been swept since the first round in 2003 by Anaheim.

Joe Thornton scored 6:42 into the third to pull San Jose within a goal and Logan Couture tied it with 6:43 left.

Tomas Holmstrom and Dan Cleary gave Detroit a 2-0 lead in the first.

San Jose's Devin Setoguchi scored with four seconds left in the period, but Henrik Zetterberg restored Detroit's two-goal lead early in the second.

Detroit's Jimmy Howard made 29 saves and Evgeni

San Jose Sharks Joe Thornton jumps on Patrick Marleau celebrating their 4-3 overtime victory over the Detroit Red Wings in the Western Conference semi-final last night in Detroit.

Nabokov stopped 32 shots for the Sharks.

The Red Wings would've had a bigger lead in the third period if not for a disallowed goal in the first.

Zetterberg had a goal negated by video review because the puck went in off his left skate in a distinct kicking motion. Zetterberg was also stopped by Nabokov on a penalty shot — awarded in the first when Couture made a rookie mistake of covering the puck in the crease with his glove.

Howard, though, could've made life easier for the Red Wings when they were clinging to a one-goal lead in the final minutes.

GOLF O MEAN THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tiger Woods chips from the rough yesterday on the 14th hole during a practice round for The Players Championship golf tournament in Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla.

Tiger trying to find game

The 18th hole on the TPC Sawgrass is not nearly as daunting without wind, which was the case on a muggy morning yesterday when Tiger Woods set up over the tee shot with a three-wood in hand.

The ball never had a chance to stay dry.

It started down the left side with a severe hook and splashed down some 20 yards to the left of the water's edge. With a mild curse under his breath, Woods asked his caddie for another ball.

It was his fifth ball in the water during nine holes of practice at The Players Championship.

He lost two in the water on the front nine the day before.

There have been flashes of brilliance, as always, but far more shots that hardly resemble golf from the world's best player.

"It's just a matter of ... getting my mind where it needs to be," Woods said. "And, certainly, I've made a lot of adjustments in my life, and I've gone through a lot — a lot."

"Just trying to make sure I get everything organized so I can play."

Woods is capable of making history at just about any golf tournament, and The Players Championship is no exception. Only now, the question is whether Woods will miss the cut in consecutive tournaments for the first time in his career.

Howard avoids foul trouble to help Magic roll past Hawks

(Magic lead series 1-0)

Atlanta 71 Orlando 114

NBA The Orlando Magic showed they could survive with Dwight Howard in chronic foul trouble. With him on the floor, they were dominant.

Howard had 21 points and 12 rebounds in one of the most crushing playoff wins in Magic history, a 114-71 victory over the Atlanta Hawks last night in Game 1 of their Eastern Conference semifinal.

Howard added five blocks and avoided the fouls and frustration that overwhelmed him in the first round, helping the Magic go ahead by as many as 46 points.

Vince Carter finished with 20 points as Orlando showed no signs of rust after an eight-day lay-off.

"We're trying to accomplish something this year. We want to come out sharp, in tune with what needed to be done. We wanted to deliver the first blow," Carter said.

"We wanted to get in rhythm, for our intensity level more than anything to be at a really high-level."

Josh Smith scored 14 points and Zaza Pachulia had 12 for a Hawks team that had little playoff poise. Game 2 in the best-of-seven series is tomorrow night in Orlando.

Vet school check list: Grades, guts, heart

Paws, Claws and Jobs

JON TATTRE for Metro Canada

There's an old saying that doctors treat ailing humans while veterinarians deal with everything else. "We say real doctors work on more than one species," laughs Kylie Evans, director of student services at the University of Calgary's faculty of veterinarian medicine.

Becoming a vet requires a mix of academic achievement and personal disposition. Calgary, like most vet programs, selects students based on strong grades and a strong interview convincing them the potential student can make the cut. Only about 30 of the 150 annual applicants are accepted.

The four-year program is hands-on and students work with real animals within weeks of starting. "There's a lot to learn so it's generally an intense course," Evans says.

Evans is originally from Australia and has worked in several countries as a small-animal vet. The employability is a huge plus to the field, she says.

"I don't think I've ever met an unemployed vet," she says. "There's a veterinary shortage throughout the world."

Serge Messier, a faculty member at the University of Montreal, says they take about 90 students a year and 85 per cent are female.

The mostly French-language programs are largely set, but students can choose electives in later years to point to more specific career paths. The fifth year is clinical rotations and everyone emerges with the same qualification as a general veterinary practitioner, whether they want to work with cats and dogs or cows and horses.

"Those that go on the job market don't have any difficulty finding places to work," he says.

Douglas Freeman, dean of the Western College of Veterinary Medicine at the University of Saskatchewan, adds that it's true, so long as you're flexible about field and location. Saddled with student loans and desiring to live in a city, many graduates seek more lucrative work in urban or suburban small-animal clinics that cater to pets.

"We have a hard time across North America of attracting and keeping veterinarians in rural, production-animal practice," he says.

Not all vets deal solely with dogs and cats; some work with pigs, horses and cows. At veterinary school students learn this quickly.

CREATIVITY There may be one upside to the challenging economic conditions of the past few years: Creative teams are stronger now than before the recession. Sixty-one per cent of advertising and marketing executives polled said the caliber of their firms' creative talent is higher than it was three years ago. According to this Creative Group study, only six per cent felt the level of talent within their firm had declined. "Businesses hold on to their best people, even in a difficult economy. But many companies are also taking the opportunity to enhance the overall skills of their teams by upgrading their talent bench," said Donna Farrugia, executive director of The Creative Group. "High unemployment levels have left many talented creative professionals in search of jobs." Farrugia added that retaining top creative talent will become more of a concern as the economy gains momentum. "Many employees are biding their time, waiting for new opportunities to open as the recovery takes hold," she said.

Are you a victim of constructive dismissal?

WorkplaceLaw

Daniel Lublin

Metronews.ca/workplacelaw

Employees faced with changes to their jobs used to just deal with the problem and move on. Seldom did they protest and if they did — it often did not matter. Now, armed with the knowledge that they can resign instead and sue for constructive dismissal, employees faced with a problem at work will call their lawyer.

What is a constructive dismissal and when will this claim succeed?

Changed hours of work

If a specific shift or certain hours have become customary, an employer cannot make any real change without that employee's consent. In a recent Ontario case, the court found that Ken Blair was constructively dismissed because, after nine years of working only rotating shifts, his company suddenly forced him to work nights.

Compensation

Pay cuts, even minor ones, can permit an employee to leave and then sue for severance. There are cases where a five per cent reduction in overall pay was viewed as a dismissal, but there are also cases where a 13 per cent decline was rejected. As well, since compensation is made up of benefits, bonuses or any other perquisite, a change to these terms can also amount to a dismissal.

Temporary layoff

Unless a contract provides otherwise, there is no right to lay off an employee. If not recalled back to work in a reasonable time period, that employee can view the job as at an end and sue for severance.

Harassment, discrimination

Harassed employees can leave and then sue for damages as if they had just been fired. But since harassment is often in the eyes of the beholder, a tough boss may not necessarily mean there will be a successful claim. The employee must objectively show that there was no other reasonable option but to immediately leave.

Changed responsibilities

Unless a contract states otherwise, an employee is hired for a defined job and this cannot be changed without consent. Since employers cannot "force" new duties on employees, usually these occur over time and it is often by design. However, whether a job gradually changes or is changed overnight will seldom matter. The courts will ask whether the job the employee is performing is what she was hired to do.

The 2010 Mazda Tribute has some nimble moves and is a good fit for an urban environment.

Tribute one for ages

Mazda SUV's winning formula has stood test of time

MARK ATKINSON
for Metro Canada

When it comes to the old line, "If it ain't broke, don't fix it," there are several auto manufacturers who have one or two offerings that have stood the test of time.

The Ford Escape and the Mazda Tribute — a pair of compact SUVs — are two prime examples. However, they continue to sell like hotcakes, despite the aging bones hiding underneath the botox'd sheet metal.

Of the two, the Tribute is the one aimed at a more urban environment. Given Mazda's penchant for creating solid driving machines, it's also the more satisfying one to pilot.

The 2010 version we had on test was the entry-level GX, powered by the company's new 171-hp 2.5-

2010 Mazda Tribute

Type: Compact SUV
Price: From $23,450
Engine: from 2.5L 4-cylinder
HP: 171
Fuel economy: 10.1/7.2L/100 km (city/highway)

Highlights

- Plenty of safety systems
- Good gas mileage

litre four-cylinder engine, mated to an optional six-speed automatic transmission.

While it is possible to get all-wheel drive with the base engine, ours sent power only to the fronts. But winter tires and a bunch of safety systems, like traction and stability control, meant there was little that could get the Tribute really stuck.

The upside of driving a four-banger is good gas mileage, and the Mazda doesn't disappoint, with ratings of 10.1/7.2 L/100 km (city/highway).

Compared to the firmly tuned CX-7 crossover that's roughly the same size and uses the same four-cylinder engine, the Tribute is softer and more comfortable on the highway, but still maintains some nimble moves. It does feel quicker, though, because it has significantly less weight to haul around.

It's inside the cabin where the Tribute falls down compared to its rivals. While Mazda has applied its own touches — like the glossy piano-black inserts on the centre console — on a design largely created by Ford, the results are underwhelming.

There's only so much you can do when you're restricted by a body that hasn't changed substantially in 10 years. Room in the second row is pretty good, and the rear seats do fold completely flat after popping up the rear seat cushions first. Cargo room is competitive, but don't expect sheets of dry-wall to fit properly thanks to the Tribute's narrow width.

Starting at nearly $23,450, the Tribute's very close to the technically superior offerings from Honda and Hyundai.

And if you opt for the 240-hp V6, expect to be shelling out nearly $28,000.

Going on a road trip with your best friend

TRAVEL Spring and summer are great times to go on road trips with the entire family — including Fido and Felix. Here are a few travel Dos (and one travel Don't) to prepare for your pet's big adventure.

- Do visit your veterinarian before you leave to ensure your pet is travel-ready. Request an updated health certificate with information on vaccinations, and if necessary re-stock on your pet's medication.
- Do ask your veterinarian what to include in your pet's first aid kit (ointments, bandages, etc).
- Do update your pet's tags with your cell phone number, or have Fido and Felix microchipped. Bring a current photo and description of your loved one; in case they get lost, you won't be scrambling.
- Do reserve ahead at a pet-friendly hotel chain. Ensure they know to expect your pet, and confirm the details of your reservation before you leave.
- Do schedule regular breaks during your road trip to take Fido and Felix on regular walks. It's just as important for dogs, cats and other travelling companions to stretch their legs as it is for humans. Remember the pooper scoopers.
- Do bring water for the long road trip ahead to keep your furry friends hydrated.
- Do bring the comforts of home for your pet, such as their bed, favourite toy(s), regular food and treats.
- Do plan activities with your pet so they don't stay alone in the hotel room. Many Canadian hotels provide suggestions on local area pet-friendly attractions, nearby off-leash dog parks, and other fun things to keep Fido and Felix, as well as the whole family, entertained.
- Don't leave your furry friends in the car. In warm or hot weather, even if the windows are left slightly open the car can quickly become an inferno and give your pet heat stroke. Always have someone stay with your pet, or, take them with you.

Audi A8 L makes space for more comfort

NEW MODEL Audi has stretched the bounds of luxury sedan comfort even further in the new long wheel base version of its flagship A8 sedan, which incorporates an additional 130 mm of wheelbase and body length, the latter concentrated at the rear to provide even more exceptional passenger accommodation.

The new Audi A8 L will also be further refined by an extensively reworked version of the 12-cylinder W12 gasoline engine offering further improved power and efficiency.

The 130 mm increase takes the length of the new A8 L to 5,267 millimeters, and the wheelbase has grown by the same amount to 3,122mm.

The A8 L W12 can cruise to 100 km/h in just 4.9 seconds, and continue to a seemingly effortless governed top speed of 155 mph.

And with the help of FSI technology, fuel economy belies these figures, with up to 23.5 mpg achievable according to the combined cycle test — a 12 per cent improvement over the outgoing model which results in CO2 output of 278g/km.

Mike Goetz

As I walk up to the hotel where I am to meet up with Paul Aldighieri, I have no clue what to expect.

Aldighieri is doing some media interviews, before he is to deliver the keynote address at the Canadian Universities Technology Conference, hosted by Toronto's Ryerson University.

Aldighieri is a professor in Human Factors, as well as an ergonomics engineer, and is currently a member of Ford's Global Human Machine Interface (HMI) team.

With those credentials, I'm picturing maybe a cross between Iron Man and my Grade 10 math teacher, Mr. Runstettler.

But Aldighieri, a Windsor native and University of Waterloo grad, is very much his own man, an articulate, youngish, urbane guy, wearing a black T-shirt and blue jeans.

The theme of the conference is how people interact with technology — something the HMI team has been examining for the last four years, as it developed MyFord and MyLincoln, the automaker's new way of connecting the driver to all the vehicle's information and entertainment features.

"In 2006, Derek Kuzak (VP, Global Product Design), was looking at what was coming, this onslaught of information possibilities. He determined that we had to do something differently, to help people manage information in a car. He told us to come up with 'a mouse.' What the mouse did for the computing industry, that's what he wanted for the car — that was the assignment."

The HMI team then formed, the first cross-functional team to work on this aspect of the vehicle.

It consisted of Aldighieri (Human Factors), a product designer, an ergonomics engineer, and an electronics engineer. MyLincoln debuted on the 2011 Lincoln MKX, while MyFord debuted on the 2011 Ford Edge and Focus. Basically, they do away with traditional joysticks and rotary dials, and use five-way controllers on the steering wheel, LED touch screens, and voice commands.

"Part of my speech will touch on Moore's law, which essentially states that there will always be more technology tomorrow than there is today," says Aldighieri.

"There will always be more technology wanting to get into the car... But human capability isn't really changing too much; we're stuck with our neurons ... So the job of the human-machine interface is to create strategies to bring those technologies under the (human capability) line. And in a car it's even more critical, as there is also this big task called 'driving.'"

But the saving grace of technology, according to Paul, is that technology also gives you the tools to manage those other technologies.

The prime one for the vehicle moving forward will be voice command. How else, asks Aldighieri, could you deal with thousands of songs on your music player and hundreds of numbers in your phone contact list?

But do you feel weird talking to your car? I do. Paul says many others do too. So Ford's voice command systems will be available in elevated stages, so you can take as much as you're cool with.

But in the long run, I say you better get over it. Voice command, along with touch screens, is how it's going to be.

Subaru's 'boxer' still packs punch

JIL MCINTOSH
for Metro Canada

While it isn't new technology, it's one of the more misunderstood: Subaru's famous "boxer" engine and Symmetrical All-Wheel-Drive. Just about everyone's heard the terms, but aren't sure exactly what they mean.

"We've been using the boxer engine since 1965," says Peter Johnson, product specialist for sales training for Subaru Canada.

da. "Every engine that we sell in North America is a boxer."

Also called a "flat" or "pancake" engine, a boxer engine's pistons lie flat on either side of the crankshaft, unlike an inline engine, where they're upright, or a V engine, where they're slanted on either side of the crankshaft in the shape that gives the engine its name, as in V6. "There are key advantages to having a boxer engine," Johnson says. "It sits lower in the vehicle than a conventional engine so there's a lower centre of gravity for better handling. There are better aerodynamics, because the hood line can be lower. There's improved passive safety: because the engine sits on a downward angle, it "submerges" under the passenger compartment in a severe collision. It's also lightweight, and that improves handling, braking, acceleration and weight distribution."

Boxer engines are also inherently smoother, because the pistons on one side counteract the vibration of pistons on the other. Other engines usually contain a balance shaft to offset the piston vibration; boxer engines don't need this heavy extra part.

The boxer engine is a key part of Subaru's Symmetrical All-Wheel-Drive — which isn't, as many people think, an equal amount of power going to each wheel. Rather, it describes the system's symmetrical design.

All Subaru cars (Forester pictured) sold in North America feature the automaker's "boxer" engine.

Subaru engines are longitudinal, facing front to rear, with the transmission connected at the back of the engine.

"The advantage is that you have a long-travel front suspension, because you have equal-length axle shafts, and that absorbs road irregularities better," Johnson says.

5 great coffee shops

Metro finds the best places in Turin to sip some joe

PAUL BALDWIN
Metro World News

Few cities take their coffee more seriously than Turin.

And if Wikipedia describes coffee as "a brewed drink prepared from roasted seeds," then it's safe to assume the writer has probably never been to Italy.

In Italy, coffee is an art form; a cornerstone of cultural and social life, and an intrinsic part of the daily ritual.

And nowhere is it taken more seriously than in Turin — home of Lavazza.

Here's our favourite five.

1Caffè San Carlo

God's own coffee shop — this place has as much Carrera marble as St. Peter's and is twice as opulent.

A gorgeous, gilded, chandelier-heavy establishment which has provided amazing service since 1822. Coffee at $1 a cup seems like stealing.

(Piazza San Carlo 156)

2Baratti e Milano

Looking like a relative youngster at only 151-years-old, the Baratti e Milano is similarly steeped in classiness and history. There's an old fashioned pride in the way the coffee is served.

(Piazza Castello 27)

3Caffè Mulassano

It's a small but perfectly formed coffee shop that is well-used by serious coffee lovers. It has a lovely decor, plush furnishings and countless objets d'art, and, for me, the best espresso in the city.

(Piazza Castello 15)

4Bar Mokita

It doesn't try to compete with the history of the big boys, but this bar's '70s boutique style is very Turin. It attracts a very cool business/media type of drinker and serves excellent coffee. Great place for a pre-dinner prosecco.

(Piazza San Carlo 217)

Turin coffee is closer to an art form than anything its museums have to offer.

San Carlo has been serving cups of coffee since 1822.

5Caffè Torino

This one is only about 70-years-old, but still hugely impressive. There's a gold bull inlaid in the pavement outside promising good luck to those who step on his, ahem, cagones. Huge welcome and superb coffee.

(Piazza San Carlo 204)

Mokita is a popular spot for the after-work business crowd.

5 Great Turin Hotels

- Chelsea: The lovely, family-operated Hotel Chelsea offers all its guests welcoming and elegant environment. Just recently renovated, the hotel offers all the modern comforts to suit the needs of both business and leisure travelers, without an uptight feel that some area hotels have.
- Town House 70: The hotel Town House 70 boasts a strategic location in Turin city center, just behind the main square of the city — the famous Piazza Castello. The area features opulent Baroque churches.
- Hotel Residence Sporting: Hotel Residence Sporting in Turin has a limited number of rooms, but they are all finely furnished with a luxury design. Every room is equipped with kitchen facilities.
- Pacific Hotel Fortino: Cosy little flats and 92 different rooms available that will assure you a pleasant stay in Turin, at short distance from the airport Sandro Pertini. The Pacific hotel is a four-star hotel with rooms equipped for physically handicapped guests.
- Principe di Piemonte: The hotel Principe di Piemonte is an elegant five-star hotel, with luxury suites available and a golf ground nearby; located near one of the most famous shopping venue, Via Roma

It's hard not to get a bit emotional in Monument Valley, it's just that kind of place.

Awe is the first emotion; because the landscape, towering surreal sandstone buttes that look like they have no business being on earth, are awesome — awesome like what-a-truly-incredible-planet-we-live-on awesome.

You will find no shortage of guides along the Utah-Arizona border willing to help you explore either on foot, or horseback, or 4x4.

But there's only one real option — horseback.

You can negotiate anything from an hour to a week, and haggle about the price which usually ranges from about $10 for an hour to $50 for a day of riding.

The guides are extraordinarily knowledgeable about the region's history. And after a potted version of what was basically a genocide (culminating in "The Long Walk" when the battered and bowed Nava-

These burgeoning shopping havens are a real eye-opener for retail therapy junkies. Find your designs without dropping a mint for them.

ISTANBUL, TURKEY

The idea for the shopping mall was probably inspired by the Grand Bazaar, the 500-year-old covered market with 4,000 shops. Nisantasi is the for high-end design while department store Beymen features a collection of local hero Hussein Chalayan's designs.

BERLIN, GERMANY

Bohemia rules in Berlin, where Kurfürstendamm is the main shopping drag. Don't miss the KaDeWe department store, Europe's second largest, with its impressive gourmet food hall. Terrific specialty shops too — try Uber Store for design, eclectic housewares.

BANGKOK, THAILAND

Two days are barely enough time to absorb the Weekend Market, where you can pick up anything from crafts to live roosters among 15,000 stalls. Love gemstones? Poke around the dozens of traders around Charoen Krung, Silom and SuraSak roads.

Buenos Aires, ARGENTINA

Sophisticated style earned B.A. its nickname as the Paris of South America. Antiquers scour San Telmo's market at Plaza Dorrego while leather lovers prowl the shops along the Calle Florida.

Palermo has the hippest boutiques, if not a little stuffy. But you can find cool stuff at Calle El Salvador there.

CAPE TOWN, SOUTH AFRICA

Ahead of this year's FIFA World Cup shopping has become a sport in this city. The place to spend your rand: De Waterkant, a quaint cobblestoned neighborhood of 18th century cottages. Design aficionados should hit locally-inspired Africa Nova.

Movie moms break new ground

STEVE GOW
for Metro Canada

With Mother's Day quickly approaching, this isn't just a reminder to order flowers, buy a card and book brunch for dear mumsy; it's also a reminder that, at least in Hollywood, moms are still trying to get out of the kitchen.

"We've made some strides certainly as a culture," states University of Toronto Cinema Studies Professor Corinn Columpar. "But I think there's a lot of holdover from the past."

The traditional image of on-screen mothers has surely evolved since the mid-'60s when pre-feminist films like The Thrill of It All portrayed Doris Day as a mom who makes it in the working world only to concede to her begrudging husband that she wants to "go back to just being a doctor's wife."

However, as Columpar contends, most mainstream movies still feature maternal roles that fit into either one of two traditional cinematic archetypes: The self-sacrificing martyr (typified by classics like Mildred Pierce or Stella Dallas) or the domineering mother (as in Mommie Dearest or even Alfred Hitchcock's Psycho).

The lesbian/parental comedy The Kids Are Alright is a more progressive example of motherhood.

"Think about Precious," says Columpar of the recent Oscar-nominated domineering-mother drama. "Precious is basically all about a girl having to define herself against her mother ... that mother is short of being a monster but she's still very much drawn in a way that's familiar."

Columpar adds that typically when Hollywood casts moms as central characters, "Those tend to be understood of a melodramatic tradition and that isn't typically a popular cinematic tradition."

"When I think about some of the most interesting, contemporary films about mothers — and specifically about the relationships mothers have with their children — they're small films, usually made by independent filmmakers."

Columpar points to upcoming movies Please Give and the lesbian/parental

Bonding over the reel world

• Metro movie critic Anne Brodie talks about her travels through the world of film with her mother.

My mother is Lorna Mary Morris Lawrence Brodie, a very proper 89-year-old English war veteran who watched Allied bombers fly across the channel to France on D-Day from her radar desk. She met my father, Col. John Brodie, and came to Canada with him as a war bride. She raised three children, later alone, and didn't have time for movies. She was energetic and curious, traveling to Turkey, China, Scandinavia, South America, Europe preferring real life to reel life. But in the last several years as she slowed down, movies brought us together in unexpected ways. She asks me about the films I screen and wishes me "good inspiration" to write the reviews. Mother came to the occasional screening and junket in L.A., where she waltzed with Mel Gibson in the lobby of the Four Seasons. Gradually she opened her mind to films and developed a passion for documentaries. We used to watch films in the nursing home theatre but that got to be a bit too much for her. It's bitter-sweet and urgent as her health fails, but we manage laughs and connection.

ANNE BRODIE/FOR METRO CANADA

comedy The Kids Are Alright as more progressive examples of motherhood in cinema.

Still, she remains encouraged that even if maternal roles are diversifying ever so slowly, at least moms' on-screen visibility is on the rise.

"(Mainly) that has to do with, for example, the rise in Chick-Lit and its corollary in cinema," says Columpar.

"I still don't know if I'd say that's where you're finding interesting representations of motherhood but there is a sense that the boys market is falling off a little bit."

BSS sounds indie rock warning

TheAudioFilesBryan Borzykowski

metronews.ca/music

Kevin Drew has a warning for fellow indie rockers — don't get greedy.

The singer and guitarist has seen a lot of changes in the music business since Broken Social Scene came together nearly a decade ago. For one, there are more people paying attention to bands that would have never received attention in the pre-Napster days. And that's not necessarily a good thing.

"The success of indie rock has brought more greed into the fold," warns BSS' co-founder and co-owner of Toronto label Arts & Crafts.

Drew says a lot of corporate money is flooding into the scene, and bands are jumping at the chance to land a big paycheck at the risk of their integrity.

He points to the Flaming Lips, whose single Do You Realize was the soundtrack for a Land Rover commercial. "It was one of the worst spots ever," he says. "It was a song written to his lover, and the commercial was a car, rear view mirrors and the grill."

BSS has had their music in a commercial too, but Drew justifies using Stars and Sons in a Cadbury spot because it was only shown in New Zealand and he thought it was well done. (It is a really neat commercial — Google it.)

Because commercials are often as powerful today as an MTV video used to be, he thinks a day will come where corporations demand bands pay them to use a song. "It'll be like payola," he says. "When that day comes that means we failed, we went about this all wrong."

With that in mind, it's unlikely music from BSS' new album, Forgiveness Rock Record, will wedge its way into your prime-time TV schedule. However, if there was any disc ripe for the corporate treatment it's this one.

The band's fourth release does away with the fuzzy noise, drowned out vocals and melodic wall of sound that's marked previous efforts. It's a pop record, through and through. It's refreshing to hear Drew and Brendan Canning's voices, and the songs are as strong as ever, but for better or worse, this record is their most conventional.

"It's a more cohesive pop record than we've ever made before," says Drew. "I love burying the vocals but it didn't work. And a lot of the sound is just time and age."

Part of it was also that BSS, once a band that had upwards of 18 members, is now down to six (including Charles Spearin, Andrew Whiteman, Justin Peroff and Sam Goldberg). Drew says they simply couldn't manage so many strong-willed people, each with their own projects and managers.

"We really became a

Forgiveness Rock Record is the new disc from Broken Social Scene.

band in 2008," he says. "We wanted to make a point for people to know that this is a really focused effort by these people. It feels like there's actually boundaries and walls and places for people."

All Bones lead to Montreal

Quick: name the hit American TV show developed in a lab in Quebec.

The show is Bones, and author Kathy Reichs based Temperance Brennan — the heroine of her crime novels which inspired the TV series — on her own experiences as a Montreal-based forensic anthropologist.

Reichs' 13th Temperance Brennan novel, Spider Bones, comes out in August but the first episode she's ever written for the series, The Witch and the Wardrobe, airs tonight on Global.

The show, which stars Emily Deschanel as forensic anthropologist Temperance (Bones) Brennan and David Boreanaz as FBI special agent Seeley Booth, is a Top 20 hit, ranking 12th overall the week of April 19-26 with close to 1.7 million viewers according to preliminary audience data from BBM Canada.

A professor of anthropology at the University of North Carolina (UNC), Reichs got word of a one-year exchange program offered by McGill and Concordia. Having just completed a

Forensic specialist, novelist and scriptwriter Kathy Reichs

French course, she jumped at the offer. While she was teaching in Quebec, the Laboratoire des Sciences was seeking someone who was board certified in forensic anthropology and could also speak French.

"They had a pool of one candidate," says Reichs, "And that was me."

When her exchange year was up, Reichs went back and worked out a deal with UNC where she would commute one week of every six to Montreal.

"I've been doing that ever since 1990," she says.

Reichs is frequently called upon to be an expert witness in forensic evidence. She has testified before the UN Tribunal on Genocide in Rwanda and done forensic work at Ground Zero at the site of the World Trade Center in New York.

"My colleagues, we don't know how we all of a sudden became hot and sexy," she says.

Reichs submitted her first novel — based on her forensic crime lab experiences — in 1996 and figures it was the O.J. Simpson trial that really kick started general interest in the gory details.

"People listened to that stuff twenty-four/seven," she says. "Blood spatter patterns and DNA angles, stab wounds and trajectory."

Reichs' episode, The Witch in the Wardrobe, finds Booth and Brennan investigating a cabin in the woods where two bodies — one a modern day witch and one from the days of the Salem Witch Trials — send the investigative team into the world of Wicca in order to catch a killer.

Thanks medics for the fresh socket

WHAT? YOU DIDN'T HEAL IN SIX MINUTES? JACK WOULD HAVE Kiefer Sutherland has publicly thanked the medics who helped him get back to work on TV drama 24 just six days after he ruptured a cyst on his abdominal wall, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

The actor spoke out for the first time about his emergency surgery in February on Monday's Ellen show in the U.S. — because he missed an appearance on the program because of his health scare. Explaining his absence, Sutherland told host Ellen DeGeneres, "I had an adrenal cyst on my abdominal wall."

"About 75 per cent of us have cysts in our bodies and I was doing a scene on 24, where I picked up a dead body, and the weight of that, combined with, apparently my age, ruptured the cyst and it started to bleed into my abdomen ... so they had to take it out. "It all took place pretty quick ... They did a phenomenal job and I was back at work six or seven days later."

Shooting on the eighth series of the action drama ground to a halt to allow the actor time out to treat the ruptured cyst near his kidney.

He's 21-Jump-Street trained

HE'S ALSO AN EXPERT IN BANDANA TIEING AND JEANS RIPPING Johnny Depp apparently has enough star power to thwart a mugging, according to the Sun.

The actor and a friend were recently leaving an L.A. recording studio when the friend was approached by a man brandishing a broken bottle. But when the would-be mugger spotted the Pirates of the Caribbean star, he backed off.

"He looked at Johnny and said, 'I ain't stealing from Captain Jack' and put the bottle down," a source says. "Johnny gave him a few bucks and told him to straighten up his life."

They're sticking it out

THAT'S NICE, BUT HOW IS BOTH OF THEM GOING TO REHAB 'UNRELATED'? Charlie Sheen and his wife have fired back at reports they're on the verge of divorce, insisting they haven't even contemplated such a thing, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

The actor and Brooke Mueller have been largely estranged since a Christmas Day fight landed Sheen behind bars in Colorado.

The couple checked into separate rehab facilities earlier this year for unreleased and unrelated reasons, and when Sheen headed home recently, Mueller moved out of the estate they shared before the winter problems. But the pair's representatives insist there will be no divorce, despite stories to the contrary.

"They are not seeking a divorce nor has one been contemplated," a joint statement from the reps reads. "There has been no financial agreements between the parties of any sort. Stories to the contrary are false."

The former First Lady likes the down beat

IT'S A SMALL STEP FROM LIKING REGGAE TO THE LEGALIZATION OF MARIJUANA What does former First Lady Laura Bush have on her iPod?

The answer may surprise you, people.com reports.

"My mom's a secret Rastafarian," her daughter Jenna said in an interview on the Oprah Winfrey Show yesterday. She plays

Bob Marley around the house.

Appearing on the show with her sister Barbara and mom Laura, who was promoting her new memoir Spoken from the Heart, Jenna explained what a typical night at the Bush family ranch in Crawford, Texas, is like.

There's the music (the family also listens to old country (songs), says Jenna), family activities and plenty of food.

White House, shmite house

NO REALLY, SHE DOESN'T THINK SHE'S BETTER THAN YOU, MICHELLE. SHE KNOWS IT Angelina Jolie once again snubbed Barack Obama by not attending the White House Correspondents' Dinner, according to Popeater.

"Angelina is always invited by several media outlets to sit at their table, but she always refuses," a source says. "Angie is filming in Europe at the moment, but that isn't the reason she didn't attend. She didn't go because on her weekends off she would rather spend her time helping those who really need it rather than sitting, drinking champagne and laughing at bad jokes in a fancy D.C. ballroom.

"Angie doesn't judge other celebrities for wanting to rub shoulders with President Obama. It's just she is someone who thinks your actions are more important than words."

Diaz hits a dining home run

STILL DON'T GET THIS PAIRING. TO EACH THEIR OWN Cameron Diaz and Alex Rodriguez have been keeping mum on their reported relationship, but all appears to be going well.

The couple dined with pal Kate Winslet over the weekend, according to Page Six.

"They all shared a delicious meal and several bottles of French red wine," a source says. And after dinner, Diaz reportedly stayed over at the Yankees slugger's home, as she was spotted leaving Sunday morning.

Metro Recipe of the Day

Broiled Salmon with Avocado-Mango Salsa

INGREDIENTS:

2 1/2 tsp paprika
2 tsp ground coriander
3/4 tsp salt
4 skinless, boneless salmon filets
1 large mango, peeled and cut into 1-cm chunks
1 hass avocado, peeled and cut into 1-cm chunks
1 cup canned chickpeas, drained and rinsed
1/3 cup chopped cilantro
1 tsp grated lemon zest
2 tbsp fresh lemon juice
2 tsp olive oil
6 cups mesclun or frisée lettuce, torn into bite-size pieces

METHOD:

1. In large bowl, stir paprika, coriander and salt.

Measure out 2 tsp spice mixture and sprinkle over salmon, rubbing it into fish. Place salmon, skin-side down, in broiler pan.

2. To remaining spice mixture, add mango, avocado, chickpeas, cilantro, lemon zest, lemon juice, and oil; toss to combine.

3. Broil salmon 15 cm from heat 5 minutes for medium. Serve salmon and salsa on bed of frisée lettuce.

ARIES MARCH 21-APRIL 20

Just because others are going all out to make money does not mean you have to follow their example. What's right for them may not be right for you.

LIBRA SEPT 23-OCT 23

What happens today may shatter a few illusions but at least you'll know where you stand. Social activities may have to take a back seat for the moment.

TAURUS APRIL 21-MAY 21

Where you are coming from is of no importance. What matters is where you are going to – and with the Sun in your sign you can really go places now.

SCORPIO OCT 24-NOV 22

You have allowed worries to grow so that you can think of nothing else. In the greater scheme of things, our everyday cares are of little consequence.

GEMINI MAY 22-JUNE 21

Your confidence may be fragile at the moment but that does not mean you should stay at home with the door locked and the drapes closed.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 23-DEC 21

If you are finding it difficult to sit down and talk things over with others you should take it as a sign that this is not the right time.

CANCER JUNE 22-JULY 22

Think about what you are going to say before you actually say it. You may be in an high-spirited mood at the moment but not everyone will appreciate it.

CAPRICORN DEC 22-JAN 20

Stay alert and don't get angry when events you had not anticipated disrupt your routine. Like it or not you cannot possibly control each and every detail.

LEO JULY 23-AUG 23

It may be frustrating that you cannot do what you want to do but even a Leo has to accept that sometimes the world does not revolve according to their needs.

AQUARIUS JAN 21-FEB 18

Put loved ones first today. Whatever it is that you desire can easily be put off to a later date, but what they want has to be dealt with now.

VIRGO AUG 24-SEPT 22

You may think that someone is behaving badly, and maybe they are, but it is not your job to point it out to them.

PISCES FEB 19-MARCH 20

If you are hoping for a breakthrough in your job or career then things will start to move quickly over the next few days.
